Wrestling's living legends and humanitarians, Tiger Jeet Singh and Tiger Ali Singh named Honorary Police Officers with Halton Regional Police

The Halton Regional Police Service named local Milton residents, wrestling living legends and humanitarians, Tiger Jeet Singh and Tiger Ali Singh, as honorary police officers at the annual Halton Heroes event on Friday, September 16, 2016. Chief Stephen Tanner presented the Tigers with their honorary police officer badges and officially welcomed them as police ambassadors with the Halton Regional Police Service.

The Tigers' new police status is part of the Service's 'community first' campaign. As officers, we are committed to putting our community first. In their role as honorary police officers, Tiger Jeet Singh and Tiger Ali Singh will join Chief Stephen Tanner and the members of the Halton Regional Police Service in their continued efforts to enhance community safety and well-being across the Region.

"The Halton Regional Police Service provides community-based policing by working in partnership with the people we serve," said Chief Stephen Tanner. "We are pleased to welcome Tiger Jeet Singh and Tiger Ali Singh to our team as honorary police officers and look forward to partnering with them to promote community safety and well-being in Halton."

"I am truly humbled and grateful to the Halton Regional Police Service for honouring my father and I as Honorary Police Officers. We are excited at the prospects of this newest tag team between Halton Regional Police Service and the Tiger Jeet Singh Foundation in supporting the communities across Halton Region," said Tiger Ali Singh Jr.

The Halton Regional Police Service contributes to the safety and well-being of the Region of Halton's more than 550,000 residents. Our policing philosophy is based on the concept that police officers and private citizens need to work together to ensure Halton remains as safe tomorrow as it is today.
